LOGNOTE -- Chief, Operations Group, 28 August 1985

1. (Schreiner) [redacted] and I visited FBO today for a chat with Allen Meeker, RE&CD representative to FBO, and Ann Eggertsen, FBO project officer for the new Amman Embassy. Chuck had picked up some rumors about the new Embassy on his recent Mideast visit and in subsequent conversations here, and we wanted the most up-to-date information on plans for siting our bureau in the new Embassy complex. The current schematic has FBIS located on the [redacted] We told Ann that we were surprised to be located within the Chancery in view of our 17-hour operation and the necessary going's and coming's of our FN staff. Ann said that feedback from other designated Chancery occupants was incomplete but that she would informally check with the military components to see if they in fact objected to a colocation with FBIS. We looked at other siting possibilities and identified [redacted] as a viable option. Ann will check on available office floor space [redacted] and discuss option with the visiting architect next week. We have been invited to that meeting also. Both locations would seem to meet our space and operational needs. No one at the Amman Embassy has seen the blueprints and schematic designs yet, according to Ann. However, she is giving us two copies so we can decide our site preference. Once we do that, we will DHL the "eyes only" package to Austin and get his opinion. Meanwhile, Chuck is drawing up a list of questions and concerns in preparation of next Tuesday's meeting with FBO and the architect. Chuck, C/Ops and I will go over Chuck's list prior to Tuesday's meeting.
